THE EUROPEAN
LOTTERIES
FOR THE BENEFIT OF SOCIETY

WLA and EL are delighted to invite you to another edition of their joint Sustainability–Responsible Gaming seminar, under the motto “Sustainability New Normal”.

This year the focus will be on the new normal embodied by sustainability, which now affects every sector of every company in the world.

On this occasion the new EL Sustainability Guidelines will be officially presented. There will also be a special focus on the responsible gaming normalization, youth & gaming and social costs of lotteries, among others.

The programme will include a number of best practices from lotteries worldwide, and top-quality keynote speakers.

Dr Sally Gainsbury is Professor in the School of Psychology at the University of Sydney and Director of the Gambling Treatment and Research Clinic. Her research focuses on developing and evaluating policies and practices to reduce and prevent gambling harms and includes examination of the role of technology. Dr. Gainsbury has published over 130 peer-reviewed articles and served as an expert advisor for government and other stakeholder groups internationally to inform gambling harm reduction policies. She is the Editor of the peer-review academic journal, International Gambling Studies.

Lise Klaveness is the first female president of the Norwegian Football Federation (NFF). A former lawyer, deputy judge, and national team player with 73 caps, she has used her position to take the lead among world sports' leaders, raising awareness to human rights, and stressing the need for equal opportunities, transparency and ethics. Ms. Klaveness was the world's first female expert commentator on TV during a men's World Cup in football. She was world football's only female technical director for both the men's and women's national teams prior to her current role, and was the first woman to run for an open position in the UEFA Executive Committee.
